Lavergue, left ever from pesterday evening.

Deputy Speaker Lavergue ruled yesterday evening that a discussion of the Peace River outlet was out of order. To-day he submitted his ruling in writing because at the adjournment hour it had been challenged by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader.

This brought on considerable crosschamber discussion before Speaker Black asked the House to decide whether the Deputy Speaker's ruling should carry. Without a recorded division the House accepted the ruling and then proceeded to discuss Railway Department estimates.

KING ASKS STATEMENT

No sooner had the House taken up the estimates than Mr. King asked Hon. R. J. Mahion, the Minister, to announce the government's policy regarding the Peace River outlet.

It was that very point, Dr. Manion declared, that had been ruled out of order by the Deputy Speaker.

The House should have some opportunity of discussing this questions, said Mr. King.

That time should be when estimates for the Canadian National Railways were under discussion, said Dr. Manion and not under the particular item then before the House, which concerned the Hudson Bay railway, He had no objection, however, to giving (Concluded on page 2)

CAPITAL AND THE LOAN

COME PEOPLE HAVE OCCASIONALLY manifested nervousness about the amount of sign capital which is at work in Canada. Supporters of the present government at Ottawa in other times have hinted that the growth, for instance, of United States investments in this country could be traced to Liberal policies of "over friendliness" for our neighbor on the south. Few people took any stock in this attitude, because if the foreign investor has profitted by the investment of his money in Canada, Canada also has profitted in still greater measure through many important development programmes. It through many important development programmes. It has been friendly capital, and no country can afford to turn up its nose at friendly capital. We are reminded of what has been said in the past, however, by some comments of The Quebec Soleil on the conversion loan now being offered to the Canadian people.

It says:

It is the Conservative practice to make Canada absorb all the big federal loans. During the war the Tory government stuck to the policy of placing all the big was issues with the Canadian people. In this way more than a billion dollars of the nation's savings were immobilized, and when the question arose of developing our natural resources, it was the foreigner who was called in to support our enterprises. National capital was involved to too great an extent in federal finance. Now, in 1931, another Conservative government is exactly repeating the action of its ancestor. We do not declare that this is an essentially bad practice, but it is by no means perfect. Once sgain we are throwing a billion dollars into national bonds. Sooner or later there will be a renewal of economic activity. When that time comes it will be to foreign capital that we shall once again have to turn to resume our interrupted work. Is this a misfortune? We would not dare to say so we have never thought the investment of American money if our enterprises was a bad thing; but the Conservatives will never again have the right to reproach anyone for handing over our wealth to foreigners. It is they themselves who are condemning the country to this necessity.

We have seen some curious reactions in recent years to co-operation, financial and otherwise, between Canada and the United States: A Conservative newspaper outcry went up against the sockeye salmon treaty because a valuable industry would be preserved by international control—only to be defended by a by international control—only to be defended by a Conservative government because the treaty would be good business. Then we have in this country some Conservative newspapers that demand the St. Lawrence deepening project be an all-Canadian project—with both parties in the Dominion House, of necessity, having to remind them that part of the St. Lawrence washes United States territory and thus it as international treasure.

is an international stream.

As the Quebec newspaper implies, of course, Canada has benefitted from the investment of American capital and not even Mr. Bennett will set up a tariff barrier against it. Meanwhile—and it is a healthy sign—British capital is beginning to think it might as well share some of the profits our neighbor's investors are reaning.

A FORTIETH BIRTHDAY

FORTY YEARS AGO THERE APpeared in the city of Truro, Nova Scotia, a ciminutive four-page news sheet by the name of The Truro Daily News—that community's first daily newspaper. The size of the page was a little larger than a sheet of commercial notepaper. But it was the beginning of an enterprise destined to become an important factor in the life and progress of that naritime city. So to celebrate what the newspaper calls with justifiable pride "forty years of service there appeared the other day an anniversary number of The Truro News—a vastly different affair from that first issue back in 1891. The number in question contains forty-eight pages of familiar size, special articles dealing with Truro in particular and Nova Scotia in general, the whole production bearing the unmistakable mark of able editing and typographical excellence. The Times congratulates its contemporary at the other end of the Dominion on attaining its ortieth birthday and hopes that as the years go by The Truro News will continue to prosper and grow

IMMIGRATION RED TAPE

ATTENTION HAS BEEN CALLED IN recent months to a number of immigration absurdities. In not a few cases downright hardship has been caused. The latest involves Canada and the United States. It appears that a Canadian woman last year visited New York and while there gave birth to a baby. When she appeared at the Canadian woman last year return to this country, he was admitted. border on her return to this country, she was admitted, but under ne circumstances could she bring the baby in with her. So mother and child were parted, the former to proceed to Montreal and the tiny tot to a foundling hospital in New York, and they must remain separated because the United States will not permit the mother to return to that country.

If anything could be more imbecile than this, The Ottawa Citizen would like to know about it, "And just to think that this madness," our contemporary observes, "is the direct outcome of laws which are supposed to be the crystallization of the wisdom of two nations which pride themselves upon their entity that the management. Now the "madness" would be now piete if the immigration authorities at Ottawa and Washington were to reprint and the unfortunate woman for being so criminally negligent as to give birth to a baby while holidaying in New York. But surely now that publicity has been given to the case some toophole at the border will be stretched large enough to permit the baby to crawl into Canada. to permit the baby to crawl into Canada.

WILL IT PAY?

THE UNFAVORABLE BALANCE SHEET of some of the big trans-Atlantic steamship companies have aroused speculation over the economic prospects of the giant Cunarder now being built on the Clyde. This vessel will be easily the largest in the world. It will be of 73,000 tons, more than 1,000 feet long, will carry 5,000 passengers and will cost feet long, will carry 5,000 tons, more than 1,000-feet long, will carry 5,000 passengers and will cost $30,000,000. It is being designed for speed as well as for size and is expected to capture the blue ribbon for swift passage now held by the German ship Bremen.

Bremen.

The question is being asked in many quarters if the limit of size and luxury in trans-Atlantic liners has not been exceeded; if it will be possible for the traveling public with its shrunken buying power to support such costly ventures. It is true there always will be a certain element endowed with great wealth which will be willing to pay heavily to cross the Atlantic a day or so faster than they could do it on slower ships, and which will desire to revel in facilities of exceptional luxury; but the prospects are that this slower ships, and which will desire to revel in Jacilities of exceptional luxury; but the prospects are that this will be a very limited proportion of the traveling public, the vast majority of which will prefer moderate comfort and speed at correspondingly moderate cost.

However indifferent to these considerations the remedies for curing the conditions of which he was sero bitterty complaining eleven months ago, if he still thinks the public at large has the same confidence in his ability to do all the things he promised to do when he was campaigning last summer, what is his reason not only for avoiding a contest which the law required to be held more than a month ago but also for keeping East Hamilton without a recognition. keeping East Hamilton without a representative in the House of Commons?

It may be, of course, that when the by-election is held East Hamilton will reaffirm its allegiance to the party which Premier Bennett leads. But the test would be an interesting one.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MARITIME RIGHTS

If we are to have tariff protection and, under Mr. Bennett, more and more of it, why should Nova Scotia coal and steel not be so favored that Ontario and Quebec will be forced to use them? It is a long haul, the cost would be heavy, the price to Ontario users would be high. Yet the haul from Nova Scotia to Ontario is no longer than the haul from Ontario to Nova Scotia, and that haul is being made, the cost is heavy, the price to Nova Scotia users is high. If tariff protection is the TT IS shocking indeed to hear the first-rate instrument of publicity, which had made our name known and in the journalism of our time. A CCORDING TO the Vancouver papers, the beer drinkers of British Columbia have experienced a great revelation. They have been condemning our local British Columbia beers in such vigorous fáshion as to rock the boat of provincial politics. Now that others beers, from outside places, are being brought in, behold, they have discovered that they like the local beer better; or rather, they don't dislike it as much as they dislike the imported kinds. So we have this interesting scientific conclusion to years of beer argument—there are only two kinds of beer—bad and worse. But something more intriguing still has just come from the government on the subject of liquor. It has given out figures to prove that British Columbia has convicted twice as many persons under the fluor laws as any of the three neighboring prairie provinces. From this city, however, bother places and that, with the timely aid of the government, we are becoming a highly moral people.

MRS. ERNEST HALL (nee Hartree)
At Christ Church Cathedral this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, a very quiet wedding took place when very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, united in marriage Miss Dorothy Hartree, L.A.B., daughter of Mrs. Betty Hartree, Lotus Avenue, to Mr. Ernest Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall of Denman Street. The bride wore a charming ensemble of aquamarine blue, with hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Mr. William Hall, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Chicago, May 22.—Wheat: The wheat market moved within a narrow mange throughout the morning, but was inclined to be erratic. Small fractional gains were scored at the opening, then followed a dip in prices. For a time prices were steady at about previous closing levels, but therefore improvement occurred and a covering movement started which kept all futures at a fractional advance.

Scattered buying by continental and seaboard houses was responsible for the early upturn, but this did not amount to much. Export business overingth and this morning was on a very small scale. Dorothy Dix Money Poor Substitute for Love

he Girl Who Marries for Money May Find Some Conso-lation in Material Things, But the Girl Who Marries a Poor Man for Love Has the Only Gold Which Can Make Matrimony Endurable

tOULD a girl pick out her husband with her head or her heart? Should she marry for love, or money? Will she be happier with a man who can give a limousine or one who feeds her soul on white hyacinths and lets her on the street cars? It is an old debate that is given interest by being made the me of Preeman Lincoln's new novel, which he asserts that love is just a ogleal urge that stupffies the our husbands' and wives' little affairs with a calm and humorous eye.

Of course, it is easy to say that love's young dream doesn't always last and lat most husbands and wives do sooner or later wake up from it. That is, as, only too true. But sometimes the vision endures to the end, and even lose who have had it but for a short time have had something that those ho married merely for a meal ticket have never had. They have walked in aradise for a space. They have seen the golden glory and felt the circling lings, and that is something to remember for a lifetime.

It is easy to figure out from a practical standpoint how a poor girl who marries a rich man whom she respects and likes is better off materially than she would have been if she married the poor man with whom she was passionately in love. The one can give her a beautiful home, fine clothes, ease, luxury, and none of these are to be despised. They do go a long way towards making us happy. The poor man dooms his wife to shabbiness, to struggle, to anxiety, to hardship.
